The Next Giant Leap

The 1990's! What a far cry from the early seventies when most of us first appeared in a classroom! None the less, the nineties are upon us and those bright eyed impressionable children of the seventies are adults ready to embark upon a world that is torn from end to end by strife and pain. During the eighties we have heard about a deteriorating ozone layer, aid to Nicaraguan contras, the nuclear arms race and the explosion of the space shuttle challenger. We have also become aware of the needs of others; from Chernobyl in Russia, to starving children in Ethiopia, to hurricanes and earthquakes in our own country. The five and six year olds of the early seventies have heard horror stories of pain and persecution and fought to grow up into the world we saw. The eighties weren't all bad, though, there were peaceful summit meetings between major world leaders, and the seemingly endless campaigns of aid to those in need across the world, showing that there was still decency beating within the human heart and causing those bright eyed impressionable children not only learn empathy, but to also learn action.

In come the nineties, our decade! We are going out into the world, taking the next giant leap in our lives and bringing the world through its next giant leap with us. Will it be easy? No. There is so much from the past that we bring with us. As always, the young are forced to make up for the mistakes of the generation before, but we at least have something to work with, we have the knowledge that we can help, that we have the ability to make a difference.

"We didn't start the fire, it was always burning since the world's been turning. We didn't start the fire, no we didn't light it but we're trying to fight it." (Billy Joel) No, we are not responsible for the state of the world, but we are responsible for what happens to it in the 1990's; we can either make our world sink or help it swim. We have a choice, to hide in the world of our own personal problems or to work with each other, presenting a unified front across the world of people who care; care to preserve the earth, care to preserve the human race.

Dear Graduates of the Class of 1990,

For each of you who has uniquely arrived at the point of a baccalaureate degree, graduation is a time to celebrate the fulfillment of an important accomplishment in life. On behalf of the Faculty and Administration of St. Joseph's College, I congratulate you.

We share the joy of your commencement at the turn of a decade made meaningful by events that have given us hope and inspiration. We have witnessed people of eastern Europe, poor and vulnerable for over forty years, become powerful; we have seen human determination, belief, and resources become superior over institutions of oppression and dominance; and we have new evidence that societies need not be locked in by military might. Indeed, the authentic meaning of the word democracy, derived from the two Greek words strength and people, has been proclaimed. Along with these encouraging signs of the times, however, is the stark realization that we are far from a nation and world in harmony.

Our hope for you, the Class of '90, is that the knowledge and values you have acquired at St. Joseph's will enable you to be alive to the transitions in our world and to the new visions opening to us. May you never be indifferent to democratic beliefs supporting human rights and a way of life in which individuals count and together have strength and power. As undergraduate students, your past years have been in pursuit of knowledge, truth, justice and peace; now we call on you to be truth, to be just, to be peace-makers. God's self-revelation comes in many ways, and when we share with one another something in our deepest self that is good, true and just, something of God is made known.

As you look back on your total experience at St. Joseph's, we hope it has been a moment in time when you've become more than you thought you could be; and we pray that the power of God working in each of you will grant you a future fuller and richer than you can ask or imagine. God bless you.

Sincerely,

LIBRARY

On September 18, 1989, at 12:30, approximately 200 people gathered on the St. Joseph's campus to celebrate the opening of the new library.

It was an exciting occasion. Over a year of construction and nearly five million dollars went into creating this library. Classes were disrupted, parking was diminished, money was solicited, all to the accomplishment of one goal - the goal that reached its culmination with this day - the ribbon cutting.

Red ribbons, strung between each pillar in the new building - five in all - fluttered in the wind as the faculty designated to cut them received their scissors. Nearly every major available at St. Joseph's was represented at this ceremony. Mr. Hazzard of the Social Sciences department stood with Mr. Rumore of the Business department. Prof. Gabel of English chatted with Dr. Reitano of Biology. Dr. Hawryluk of Psychology and Mrs. Powers of Child Study were present. Student government, represented by former president Mike Pace and the current administration of Miriam Rappelt, Tom Sheridan, Kathleen Dyer and Kathy Zarzycki, was also present.

Child Study

The courses in Child Study are designed to emphasize a child development approach toward children, toward teaching and learning and toward curriculum. The Department makes a special commitment to the importance of the early childhood years, preparing students to work with children in preschool, in primary and intermediate grades, and with children with exceptionalities. The content of all Child Study courses considers the child from birth to adolescence, the disabled and the nondisabled child, and teaching in regular classes and special classes. Fieldwork and Student Teaching provide opportunities to gain firsthand experience in the classroom.

"It Is A Newspapers Duty To Print The News And Raise Hell"
The Chicago Times 1861

As most of you already know, we have decided to change the name of the campus newspaper. To do this we sponsored a contest in which all members of the college community were welcome to submit potential names for the paper. Well, the ballots were cast, the votes were tallied, and we have selected a new name.

The name of the campus newspaper of St. Joseph's College is now THE TALON. A talon is the claw of a bird of prey, and since our sports teams are known as the "Eagles" we felt that this was a fitting name.

With THE TALON we hope to write stories that will grip you, editorials that will grab you, and produce a newspaper that will match the toughness of our sports teams.

The winner of our contest and the $100 cash prize was Dr. Raymond Russo, who teaches third world history. Dr. Russo has decided to donate the $100 to the New Horizon Campaign in the memory of his good friend, Dr. Vincent Buscareno. Dr. Buscareno taught third world history at St. Joseph's from 1982 - 1985, before Dr. Russo. Dr. Russo felt that this would be a fitting tribute to his friend, who deeply loved the community that makes up St. Joseph's College.

We would like to thank all those who participated in our contest. Over 40 names were submitted, and we feel that the contest was a resounding success. So thanks, and we hope you're looking forward to the first issue of THE TALON.

Time to "trouble shoot"

A teaching experience in the fourth dimension comes about when educators and students contribute and share their abilities towards a common goal. Perhaps this may be what is known as "team effort."

As advisor to the yearbook for the past three years this is the experience I share with you. Now, it is with sadness that I conclude this position as advisor to the college annual. I offer to all the faculty the opportunity to experience a teaching concept in the fourth dimension as in the role of faculty advisor. I extend a "big hug" to the staff of Student Services, Louis, Joanne, Kathy, Elaine, Lisa, Eileen, John, Jan, Theresa, Bill, Carl Miller, S. John Raymond and Scott our super Editor in Chief.

Baseball 1990

After compiling a 14-6 regular season record with 2 games left to play on May 6, the SJC Men's baseball team is headed for the NAIA District 31 playoff tournament for the first time ever.

The team, in only its second year, has improved vastly over last season's 6-17 record, despite many obstacles. Senior Captain Charlie Caputo calls this years' accomplishments "incredible". Coach Trudnak's endless recruiting has paid off in a big way, by filling in a lot of the holes we had in our team last year. We've earned the respect of many people."

The self-proclaimed Running Rebels have received outstanding performances from a number of players. "We don't have any one player who is great," said Caputo, "just 20 guys who give it their all every game."

This amazing team effort, though, was led by Charlie Caputo, one of 6 "super seniors" on this years' team. Caputo, the pride of the school's program, broke most of his own records with a .433 batting average, 3 home runs, 22 RBI's and 12 stolen bases. His wealth of talent has even caught the attention of major league scouts.

The next "all-star" senior is co-captain, catcher, and team Most Valuable Player Rob "Crash" Keenan, named after the character "Crash Davis" in Bull Durham. Although he describes himself as far from the most physically talented player on the team, his .339 average speaks for itself. Keenan's on and off field leadership is what he is most valued for and make him truly irreplaceable.

Keenan and Caputo, who have played together since the ninth grade, have seen each other through thick and thin. The two see each other as brothers, and together their goal was to lead the team to the playoffs. Keenan said that the best is that they have finished their careers as winners, and have earned the respect of the younger players. "We get to finish as winners, and that's all we could have asked for."

The rest of the senior squad included outfielder Frank Fanzone, Joe Cullen, pitcher/DH Dave Fabrizio, who won 4 games and batted .414, and Paul Venturi, whose solid, consistent play as the starting left fielder for the past 2 years was instrumental to the team's success.

To replace these "super seniors", the team has a group of dedicated underclassmen who can only get better. This group is led by sophomore twin brothers, Chris and Gregg Alfano, the shortstop and second baseman respectively, who have been the flash and spark of this years' team. Chris drove in 20 runs and stole 9 bases while hitting .400 and Gregg, after overcoming a pre-season injury, went on to hit .410 with 9 RBI's and a school record .641 slugging percentage.

The team gave out its Golden Eagle awards this year to two other underclassmen, sophomore E.J. Unverzagt, who not only batted .375, with 10 stolen bases and 19 runs scored, but brought to the team a tremendous amount of leadership, which is a surprising asset for such a young player, and to freshman Kevin Ross, whose .321 batting average and smooth fielding have made him a potential super-star on the team.

The clubs' unsung hero this season was junior pitcher Bob Crowley, who was 4-0 with a 2.78 earned run average this season and has never lost a collegiate game.

The baseball team's success this year has been truly amazing, and can be easily summed up by a sign that hangs from the team's bulletin board: "It all starts with the right attitude." Love, Crash.

WOMEN'S SOFTBALL

The SJC women's softball team recently completed their season on the road with a four game winning streak. The lady Eagles compiled a 13 and 6 record this year, their second year in existence.

The team has improved tremendously from last season, primarily due to the efforts of enthusiastic athletes. Coach Gary Smith hopes to recruit some new players next year, even though only two players from this years squad are seniors. Coach Smith needs new, dedicated players, because most of next year's team will be seniors, and he wants to ensure the continued success and survival of the team.

One of the goals for next season is to have the team accepted into a league. They have been kept out so far because they only started last year. However, most of the teams that they played this year were in higher leagues than the Eagles would compete in.

The team can base most of their success this season on their outstanding pitching — led by Karen Scribner with a 13 and 6 record and a 3.81 era. According to center fielder Joanne Herdmann, "Karen did a fantastic job. She pitched double headers without any complaints. Without her, we never would have accomplished as much as we did."

Cheering us on . . .

To Marian Russo:

With sincerest appreciation for all you do — for being here in the evenings and on weekends when no sane person would want to be, for supervising our student government activities, for feeding us at every possible moment (right down to the tootsie rolls we grab between classes) and mostly, for all of the caring that you lavish on us — we, the students of St. Joseph's College, proudly dedicate this yearbook to you.
